KE-Herbal Extract

A specially developed fermentation process extracts, multiplies and stabilizes the ectoflora (plant surface biology) of various herbs, making them suitable for use in various metabolic processes. This microbiology is mainly lactic acid bacteria and yeast.

Only herbs are used for the fermentation process, since these usually have the highest quality subtle energy potential.

Why KE?

Herbs are among the most effective things that nature provides us with. In addition to their valuable ingredients, they have a surface biology which can be used beneficially in many areas of daily life.

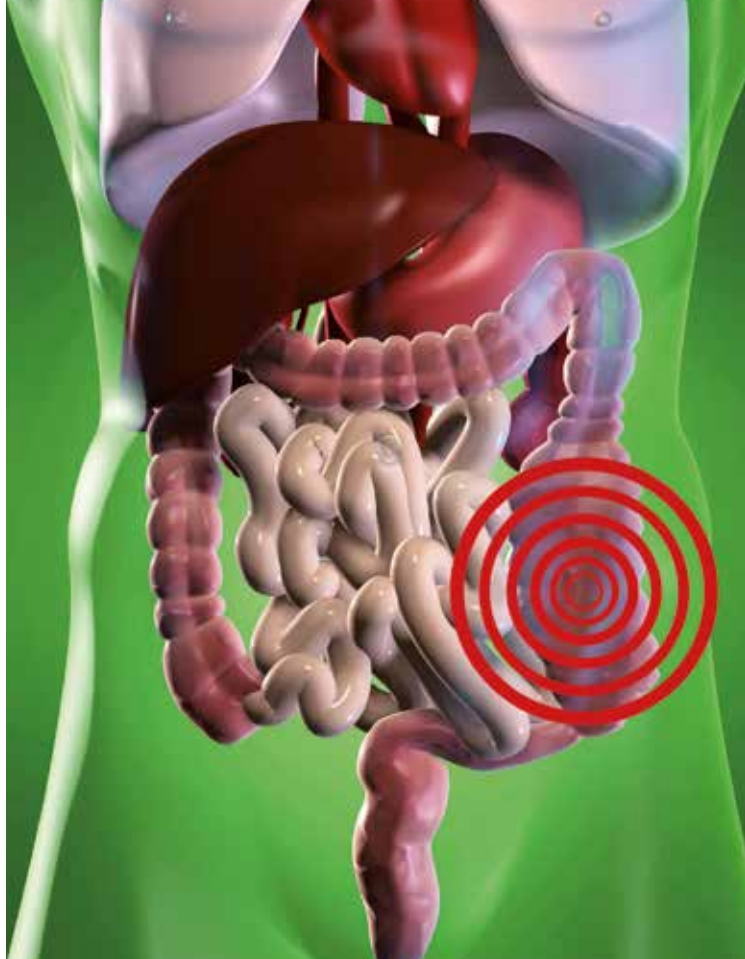

In herbal medicine it has been known for centuries how beneficial, pain-relieving or healing herbs can have on the organism of humans and animals.

The gut is the root of human health. We owe 80% of our immune system to our intestines.

Our intestinal tract is largely responsible for our well-being, vitality and a clear mind.

Due to our fast-moving times, stress-related digestive disorders occur more and more often.

It is therefore important to support our intestines in order to counteract lack of energy, lack of drive, tiredness or lack of concentration.

What is KE?

KE Herbal Extract is a 100% natural herbal ferment. Ingredients from various mountain herbs, sea salt, molasses and fresh spring water from the Alps complement each other in their subtle effects. Highly concentrated plant biology in liquid and durable form, whereby the ingredients and active substances of the herbs used are largely preserved by a special manufacturing process.

Unlike other fermented herbal products, no foreign bacteria, fungi or yeasts are added during the production of KE Herbal Extracts. Rather, the high population of microbiology in KE Herbal Extracts is endogenous. This is made possible by a controlled fermentation of the Herbal Extracts.

KE tastes and smells natural because it is produced without any flavour enhancers, artificial flavours, colours, sterilisation, pasteurisation, etc.
